JOHN MARSHALL BANK OPENING IN ROCKVILLE
Bank's Demonstration of Strength in Troubled Economy Bucks Trend

[Rockville, MD] [October 1, 2010] – On Wednesday October 6, 2010 businesses and residents in the Rockville, MD area will have a new choice in banking as locally owned and operated John Marshall Bank opens its doors. The new bank will be located at 11 N. Washington Street, Suite 1000 in Rockville, MD.

The expansion of a local bank is being seen as a true demonstration of John Marshall Bank's strength as a well-run bank, especially in today's economy.

John Marshall Bank first opened to the public in Falls Church, Virginia in May 2006. Since that time, customer service, satisfaction, and success have inspired the bank's leaders who have helped it to grow into one of the areas most respected and well capitalized banks.

"John Marshall Bank's business model is based largely on people" explained John Maxwell, John Marshall Bank's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. "Rather than build a branch or regional office and then look for the people to staff it, we seek to hire talent, and then expand the company based on the strengths of our bankers".

John Marshall Bank's Washington DC/Maryland Regional President Ed Harrington has over 23 years of banking experience in the DC Metro area. He will have direct responsibility for overseeing operations at the new Rockville location. Vice President Jennifer Dellinger will be responsible for the day to day operations.

"We are excited to be expanding and opening our first full service branch in Maryland" Maxwell continued. "We look forward to the opportunity to serve new customers and having the ability to offer improved convenience for our existing customers".

The bank will be offering a special money market account in celebration of the Rockville branch. Details are available at <http://www.johnmarshallbank.com>
